Welcome in. Take what helps; leave the rest.

This is a free printable pack for moving gently at any size, at any energy level, on any given day. No apps, no signups, no streaks to lose. Print the page you need, or all of them, and let the rest wait.

> Nothing here knows your weight, your history, or your limits. Pick the sheet that matches today's energy — not the one you wish you had. Some days that's a stretch card. Some days it's the permission slip. Both count.

What's in the pack

- Five-Minute Wake-Up Stretch — one card, six easy moves, done before the coffee cools.
- Chair Exercises — two pages of seated movement for low-energy days.
- Walk-and-Count Mileage Log — walk, count something, jot it down.
- Balance Practice — everyday steadiness, near a counter, at your own pace.
- Water-Sip Tracker — tick sips, not perfection.
- Rest-Day Permission Slip — the official-looking excuse to not move, signed by you.
- Movement Bingo — a monthly card of tiny wins. Any five in a row counts.

Printing tips

- Print at 100% / "Actual size" on letter paper. It scales fine onto A4 too.
- You keep this file; it works offline forever. Nothing is collected, nothing is tracked.

Balance Practice

Steadiness is a quiet superpower. This sheet is about practicing it near something sturdy, in footwear or barefoot, for seconds at a time.

Read this one twice: balance work is education, never exercise prescription. Practice only within arm's reach of a counter, sturdy chair, or wall — fingertips resting lightly on it are allowed forever, not just for beginners. Stop and sit if you feel dizzy, and only practice movement your doctor or physical therapist has cleared.

- [ ] 1 Weight shifts

Feet about hip-width, near the counter. Rock gently side to side, then front to back. Ten slow drifts.

- [ ] 2 Heel raises, holding the counter

Lift heels with fingertips for balance, lower with control. 8 slow ones. Calves love us for these.

- [ ] 3 Toe taps

Feet stay put; rock the weight so heels lift, then toes lift. Alternate 12 times. Footwork without going anywhere.

- [ ] 4 Single-leg stand, fingertip grade

One foot down, the other hovering a hair off the floor. Hold as long as comfortable — seconds, not minutes. Both sides.

- [ ] 5 Slow look-left, look-right

Standing steady, slowly turn your head left, then right. Eyes move first, body follows late. 5 each way.

- [ ] 6 Sit down before you're tired

The pro move. Ending the practice while it still feels easy is the most skilled version of it.

| Practice day | Longest single-leg hold (comfortable seconds) | How steady I felt |
|---|---|---|
| | | |
| | | |
| | | |
| | | |